ABOUT ME

I'm mostly a self-taught front-end developer and I'm always open to learning new things!

Something interesting: I completed a 100-day challenge of daily coding on CodeWars and saved the results in a separate repository on GitHub. Thanks to this challenge, I was able to enhance my Javascript skills and demonstrate my commitment to IT.

PET PROJECTS

Instagram clone

This project was assigned to me during the courses, and I tried to make it closely resemble a real Instagram. Firebase was utilized for storing user and post information in the project, and the project was made adaptive to ensure proper display across various devices and screens.

- Stack: React, Firebase, npm

Pizza store

This is a small pizza shop, during the course of working on it, I grasped how React, Redux Toolkit, and Axios operate.

- Stack: React, Redux-Toolkit, npm

Plants - landing

This landing page is part of a Rolling Scope task and has been optimized for perfect display on various devices.

- Stack: HTML, CSS, JS
